

Horse Riders...

Many people are not familiar with horses and how to behave around them.
When out cycling, it's simple: Be nice, say hi.

Expect the unexpected at all times
Be aware at all times

Be nice - say hi

We are both vulnerable - Let's work together

Cyclists...
Alert the horse rider...

...that you are there

Remember
There are 3 brains working

The cyclists'

The Horses'

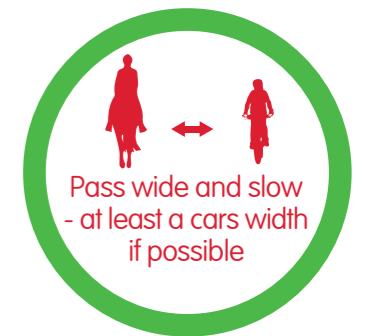

The Riders'

Horses can move very quickly. They weigh up to ¾ tonne and may cause serious damage to you or your bike if they kick out.

Give the horse and rider time to react to your call of 'Hi'

Never pass
on the inside of a horse

Be aware of pinch points in the track or on the road ahead
